RE: GCSE Geography Field Trip to The River Eea in the Lake District

Tuesday 3 July

As part of the key Stage 4 curriculum, the geography department is required to offer fieldwork opportunities to develop a range of geographical skills whilst learning outside the classroom. The fieldwork is a fundamental part of the GCSE specification, as students are expected to use the information they gather to answer questions on both the fieldwork enquiry itself and the River Eea as a case study example.

The third examination your son/daughter will sit is called 'Geographical Applications'. Part of this examination requires the student to answer questions regarding the fieldwork enquiry they have undertaken. Areas will include methodologies, results analysis, conclusions and evaluations. The information the students collect will be in addition to fieldwork they will collect when they are in fifth year. Both fieldwork days will be fundamental to the successful completion of the GCSE geography course.

A fieldtrip has been organised to the River Eea, in the Lake District, on Tuesday 3 July. During the visit the group will be undertaking an investigation into how a river changes from source to mouth. They will be collecting river data using a variety of collection methods to enable them to write up an independent fieldwork investigation on their return to school. The students will be provided with a data collection booklet to complete whilst on the trip, therefore they must bring writing equipment with them on the day.

Students will be required to wear appropriate clothing and footwear suitable for a full day outside, as weather conditions can be unpredictable and footpaths can be uneven. This includes trainers or walking boots and a waterproof jacket; students should carry a small rucksack with sun cream, drinks bottle and a packed lunch. No cropped tops or short shorts are to be worn. If your son/ daughter would like to go into the river (it is a shallow river), they will be required to bring wellington boots. This is not essential, as someone in each working group will have a pair. Students will be representing the school, so exemplary behaviour is expected. This includes following all expectations of a usual school day, including the no mobile phone policy.

The coaches will depart from Ripon Grammar School at 8.00am on Tuesday 3 July and will return to school at approximately 5.00pm.
