Student Suspension and Exclusion Panel (Chair Eric Medway)

The governing board has a duty to consider parents' representations about a suspension. The Student Suspension and Exclusion Panel, which must consist of at least three governors, has delegated authority to undertake this consideration. The Panel follows the Statutory Guidance from DfE and carries out the following on behalf of the Board of Governors:

For suspensions of less than 6 days the panel will receive, investigate and provide a written response to parents' representations. It does not have the power to reinstate the student nor rescind the suspension.

For suspensions of 6-15 days the panel will receive parents' representations and convene a meeting of all parties within 50 days. It can consider rescinding the suspension.

For suspensions of more than 15 days, or which would bring the total of days suspended for the term to more than 15, or for suspensions of any duration that would cause the student to miss a public examination, the panel must call a meeting within 15 days (or before the examination) to consider reinstatement of the student.

For permanent exclusions the panel must call a meeting of all parties within 15 days to consider reinstatement.
